A Scene from the movie!

Like its namesake, the Jake Slimenfoot cocktail is serious. More than ages ago, a highly respected priest bearing the name of the drink what was named after his name succumbed to a sad long illness. In his honour, this boyish beverage was mixologised. Originally crafted by Jar Kretza and Henry Wald, the Jake Slimenfoot continues to have a penetrative influence in the drink world. Mangiac behavior are excited to finally reveal the ingredients of this boyish beverage:

the holiest ingredients are...

- 45ml jamaican plantation rum
- 5 sprigs of liver/putrid slimeball
- 30ml Blue Curacao
- 10ml putrid lemon*
- top with fanta, served on cracked ice! Garnish with S

*To stay truly accurate to the original recipe you're going to need a putrid lemon from Christmas.

Erlendur Gestur, Elvínas plök,
Henry Wald

Since the release of their debut single „Medicine Gift“, the music world has been squirming to know more about this elusive supergroup. Mangiac Behavior has managed to track down three of its members...

Behavior: There's a lot of talk about meaning. Nowadays, meaning is the metaphorical thing. Without revealing too much, what does „Medicine Gift“ mean to you?

Plök: Nothing. It's as meaningless as life. We are all just meat sacks on a floating rock spinning in space and I want the music to reflect that.

Gestur: Það þýðir íraun ekki mikið. Nema hvað það þýðir líka allt.

Behavior: What inspired the lush soundscapes of the track? Was it smell?

Plök: Personally, no existing thing has inspired my contributions. The music comes from a place that reveals itself to me when it chooses to and it's not of this earth. Sometimes I wake up and on my bedside table lies a sheet of paper with the full notation for a song on it, I don't even keep any paper in my house. I don't have a sense of smell.

Gestur: Það var enginn ilmur né lykt, heldur var það snerting. Snerting innvortis sem og á gítarinum, sem snerti mig. Svá var það líka ilmur, eða ákveðin lykt, brennandi hár?

Behavior: Many have speculated „Medicine Gift“ to be a commentary on pseudo-plant pressure groups lobbying the British Parliament. To what extent is this true?

Plök: My lawyer will put out a statement on my behalf about this topic at some point in the future.

Gestur: Svona að einhverju leyti, mér er samt einfaldlega stétt sama.

Behavior: TO what extent does the nose play a role in "Medicine Gift"?

Plok: Erlendur and I actually played our instruments using our noses. We were messing around in the studio and he was trying to smell his guitar when he accidentally hit the strings with his nose. The tone that came out of the amplifier shocked all four of us and the rest is history.

Gestur: Þetta er kannski ekki mikið talað um en við enduðum á því að spila á hljóðfærin með nefunum okkar, það var endallega út af því að mér fannst einhver stríkin ljúkt af kvikindnu (gítarinnu) mínu og reyndi þar að þefa. Svó hljómaði það bara heilt, vel og ákváðum við að gera það þannig þara.

Behavior: What's the goal of "thank you fields"? Describe it as a smell.

Plok: In just one smell, I would describe it as the elusive Japanese "umami" flavour, or perhaps the color ochre. We all have different ideas for the goal of T.X.F. but I can speak for all of us when I say that the ultimate goal involves pointers, minutes.

Gestur: Sem ljútt hlýtur það að vera nokkrar gömsætar notajar lummur sem eru búnar að liggja ofi í sólinni, með smá keim af flötum bjór, ekki bók ég frekari útskýringa.

Behavior: How does the nose play a role in "The 83 cutlass of..."?

Plok: We brought in 83 cutlass of...

Gestur: I don't know,
